Serving Alameda, Contra Costa, and Solano Communities

Letter from the Board Chair

We are proud of the work that was accomplished in 2015 at Goodwill Industries of the Greater East Bay. Times are difficult in the three counties we serve (Alameda, Solano, and Contra Costa), and we've been dedicated to make connections with employers to help those in need go to work. Goodwill's job training and job placement services served over 3,165 individuals in 2015 and placed over 1,049 into jobs in the community. As a Board member, I'm proud to serve the community through such a determined organization and you can count me as one of the best advocates for Goodwill's job services as well as the retail stores.

The year of 2015 was also a year of accomplishments and accolades for the President and CEO of Goodwill Industries of the Greater East Bay, John Latchford. John led the agency for 16 years, and prior to that served on the Board of Directors and as Chief Financial Officer (CFO) at Goodwill Industries of San Francisco, San Mateo, and Marin Counties. He announced his retirement and left the agency in the hands of new leadership beginning in January 2016.

John has been instrumental in building our Goodwill's mission and programs. Since he began at Goodwill Industries of the Greater East Bay, revenue increased from $15 to $37 million, and services to people in need expanded each year. We thank John for his tremendous contribution to Goodwill and wish him all the best in his retirement.

mission

Goodwill Industries of the Greater East Bay provides disadvantaged and disabled people work experience, life skills and skill training to achieve self-sufficiency in their lives through work. We do this by focusing our business opportunities on providing training opportunities and by operating financially sound community based businesses that provide vital vocational services to our community.

Anita Tobar, Retail Store Lead

Anita grew up in a life full of violence, drugs, and gangs. By the time she was 16, she was a drug addict and full-time gang member. She was in and out of prison due to her gang activity and drug abuse. Anita's last stint in prison made her realize that she had lost her entire family. She had no one for support and was completely alone.

On November 3, 2010, she went to her parole officer, asked for help and was put into a detox program for her addiction. She got a job picking up garbage on the side of the freeway and was receiving help to pay for her bed at Shelter, Inc. When the job contract was complete, she needed to find another job.

When Goodwill called Anita was ecstatic and could not wait to start working. Anita started in the Goodwill Academy training program as a donation attendant. When she was nearing the end of her training, she was offered a full-time position. Today, Anita is celebrating her fifth anniversary with Goodwill.
